

guard for the last time, went through their rifle drill. This was expected to be the final appearance of a British regiment, and the troops were duly cinematographed as they marched off.

Post office clerks came to take over from the soldiers the management of the castle's telegraph wires.

Dublin Castle, the ancient seat of British authority in Ireland, occupies about ten acres of ground, but, excepting St. Patrick's Hall, the apartments are small and the building is of a motley and unimposing appearance. One exception to this is the chapel, a Gothic building of the early nineteenth century.

The castle was originally built in the first two decades of the thirteenth century, and there are still some portions of the building that were constructed in this period, but nearly all of the structure is of the sixteenth century and later.

She protested against her portrait being "exposed to the gaze of the world, even to that of the President," and asked that the painting be put away at least until her death.

Her request was granted.

MALIBIE IN TILT WITH RANSOM AT GAS RATE HEARING

Counsel for Company Reveals City Pays Expert $100 a Day.

DEBATE IS SPIRITED.

Community of Interests Laid to "Rival" Corporations on Long Island.

The hearing of the Public Service Commission on the rates of the New York and Queens Gas Company was devoted today to an attack by William L. Ransom for the gas company on the qualifications as a valuation expert of former Public Service Commissioner Milo R. Maithe, employed by the commission.

Mr. Ransom was counsel for the Public Service Commission when Mr. Maithe was a Commissioner, and his cross-examination of Mr. Maithe and the replies were both marked with feeling.

"Having been City Chamberlain under Mayor Mitchell," asked Mr. Ransom, "when did you enter the employ of the present City Administration?"

"In the telephone rate cases of 1920," replied Mr. Maithe, "at the instance of Corporation Counsel O'Brien."

Mr. Maithe insisted that the amount of his compensation as a city expert was "a private matter," but Commissioner Fredericant required him to answer questions on that point.

"The city," said Mr. Maithe, "paid me $100 a day for my personal services and additional sums for the services of members of my staff. Some of these men were paid at the rate of $15 and $20 a day. The telephone case was the only one in which the city employed me."

"Were you ever employed by a newspaper?" asked Mr. Ransom.

"Yes," said Mr. Maithe, "by The World, and I won for them a two and a half million dollar reduction in telephone rates in a very short time," answered Mr. Maithe.

"So you admit that," said Mr. Ransom.

"I do and it was a good job," reported Mr. Maithe. He added that he had been employed by the Attorney General at $75 a day.

In an exchange between the witness and Mr. Ransom something was said about a community of interest between the Consolidated Gas Company and the Brooklyn Union Gas Company.

Mr. Ransom wanted to know if Mr. Maithe meant to insinuate that the member of his staff was then acting as counsel for the Brooklyn Union.

"It might well have been true," said Mr. Maithe, spiritedly, "from the results."

BARON'S SON, IRISH REBEL, FOUND DEAD IN HOTEL MYSTERY

Hon. Victor Gibson, Husband of New York Girl, Stricken; Broken Vial Near.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (Associated Press).—The body of an Irishman found dead in a hotel at Hoveham, in Sussex, on Saturday was identified today as that of the Hon. Victor Gibson, son of the late Lord Ashbourne and brother of the present Baron Ashbourne. His wife was an American girl, Caroline de Billier, daughter of Frederic de Billier of New York, whom he married in 1909.

Considerable mystery surrounded the case over the week-end. Gibson, on arriving at the hotel on Saturday, asked to be allowed to remain in the smoking room, where he was found dead.

He had previously stricken at the hotel that he was an Irishman and a rebel, known to the Irish press by half a dozen names, and that he had lived with his father at the Vice-regal lodge in Dublin fourteen years ago.

Some broken glass was discovered in the fireplace and a small quantity of liquid had been spilled on the hearthstone.

Ernest Victor Gibson, who was born in 1875 and educated at Trinity College, Dublin, and Trinity College, Cambridge, married in 1905 Mary Wood Salisbury, daughter of Joseph L. R. Wood, of New York. She died the same year, and Gibson four years afterward married Miss De Billier. He served in the South African War and was an honorary lieutenant in the army and temporary commander in the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve. He was admitted to the bar in Dublin in 1919.

The late Lord Ashbourne, who died in 1913, was Lord Chancellor of Ireland under Lord Salisbury, first taking the office in 1885 and holding it also under Lord Salisbury's second and third administration.

MAYOR OPENS BREAD SHOPS IN PRICE WAR

Undercuts Bakers Who Refused to Lower Charges.

Tiffin, O., Jan. 16.—Continuing his fight against food profiteers and the high cost of living in Tiffin, Mayor Unger today established three bread stores, two at fire stations, and one in his automobile supply store here.

Hundreds of loaves of bread have been brought here from Toledo bakeries and are being retailed at 4 cents a pound loaf. Tiffin bread retails at 8 cents.

Mayor Unger is buying the bread, wrapped and freight paid, at five cents. He declared he would use the cent profit to finance further probes to bring down the cost of living here.

Opening of the municipal shops is the Mayor's first move to bring down bread prices here and was taken when bakers refused to cut bread prices 25 per cent.

AMERICAN SHOES CHEAPER ABROAD THAN IN U. S.

Foreign Buyers Getting 44,000-000 Pairs a Year and Sales Growing

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Official report shows you can buy United States shoes cheaper abroad than at home, the average export price being $3.65, against $9 the average charge in the United States.

Before the war $5 bought a good pair of shoes; now dealers tell you $12 must be paid for a "really good" pair, and some charge $15.

Residents of almost every other country in the world are buying American shoes for approximately one-third what the people at home have to pay.

Foreign buyers are getting them at the rate of 44,000,000 pairs a year, and sales are increasing. Of course the foreign prices quoted are wholesale.

Farmers who want the Federal Trade Commission to investigate why they don't get as much for a whole hide as they pay for one pair of shoes.

FRISCH OF GIANTS ENGAGED TO WED BRONX GIRL "FAN;" "HOME RUN" BAKER MARRIES

Miss Lucy Likes Game, Unlike Yankee Player's Bride Who Takes Him Out of It.

When Frank Frisch, the Giants' third baseman, was a youngster he used to carry home the schoolbooks of little Ada Lucy, who was a fellow pupil in Public School No. 8, in the Bronx. That was the beginning of it, and Frank didn't care one bit whether the other boys made fun of him or were jealous or anything.

He has the laugh on them to-day, because his engagement to Miss Lucy, now a pretty girl of twenty-three, is announced and they're going to be married next winter.

Miss Lucy, one of five children, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lucy of No. 2067 Perry Avenue, the Bronx, her father being Chief Dispatcher for the New York Central. She is also employed in the railroad's office, and when she is not at her desk she is at the Polo grounds watching Frank help to win games. She is an eager ball fan, particularly eager since Frankie joined the Giants in 1919.

Frank's father is in the linen business at No. 24 Whitehall Street and his family and that of the Lucys are delighted over the coming wedding. Frank is twenty-four years old.

Announcement came to-day from Baltimore that J. Franklin Baker, who marries Miss Margaret Mitchell there to-day, has promised her never to play professional baseball again. This means the former "Home-Run King" has parted from the Yanks for good. The management has known it for some time. He will go into the jewelry business in Maryland.

HARDING TO NAME A FARMER MEMBER OF RESERVE BOARD

duty severe on the farmer during the deflation period which began nearly two years ago. The banks of the Nation were advised not to loan money on declining markets.

The farmer was caught in the maelstrom of rulings and advice by the Federal Reserve System. On its part, the Federal Reserve Board justifies what was done, claiming that deflation is painful at best and that the farmer had to take his medicine along with the rest. But the farmer now points out that the process went too far and that the Federal Reserve Board didn't help him in time of stress. The overwhelming demand from the rural districts for the revival of the War Finance Corporation which Secretary Houston opposed under the Wilson Administration and which was reluctantly accepted by the Harding Administration has worked out so well that the farmers are pointing to it as the best evidence of their ill-treatment.

The agricultural bloc argues that when the crisis came nobody on the Federal Reserve Board seemed to realize what a terrible blow was being handed the farmer. If there had been a man on the board experienced in agricultural ways this might not have happened. Men on the board dealt with the farmers through their banking experience, but the agricultural bloc contends that the farmer viewpoint should have been obtained from the other side of the loan counter.

President Harding will unquestionably fill the next vacancy "from the agricultural sections of the country." This geographical limitation is the President's idea of the way the state should run, but Senators have pointed out to him that the present act specifies that men of banking experience shall be selected, and they propose that to amend the act the President shall be required to select the board from the industrial, commercial and agricultural sections of the country and that the words, "banking experience" be eliminated.

U. S. TRADE FOR 1921 HALF THAT OF 1920

Declining Prices Held Responsible, as Volume of Traffic Nearly Equalled 1917.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Despite the marked falling off of exports and imports last year to well below even the figures for 1917, when submarine activity practically paralyzed shipping, Government officials look for a marked increase during the next few months.

Total trade for 1921 resulted in a balance in favor of the United States of $1,076,314,824, as against $2,949,534,817 for the previous year. There was, however, a decided steadying of the export trade and an increase in the import shipments during the last two months. Officials see in this a move toward general recuperation.

Both imports and exports for the year, as compared with 1920, showed a decrease of about 50 per cent. Imports dropped from $5,278,481,490 in 1920 to $2,508,452,068 in 1921, while the value of exports decreased from $2,228,016,207 to $4,484,736,859. Secretary of Commerce Hoover points out, however, that the general trade cannot be judged by the values as there has been a sharp decline in prices.

According to estimates prepared by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, the export trade of the United States last year, so far as quantity is concerned, about equals that of 1917.

Gold imports for 1920 were the heaviest in history, but 1921 exceeded the previous year record by $274,199,175, the total for last year being $691,267,448, which, checked against exports of $23,680,943, leaves a balance in favor of the country of $667,587,405 for the year.

Toward the close of 1921 importations of gold into the United States showed a marked decline. In August there was a flow of $4,901,564. During the next four months there was a steady decline to $1,634,978.

E. D. DIER & CO. FAIL; LIABILITIES ARE PUT AT $4,000,000

Curb Brokers at No. 42 New Street Have Many Offices Throughout Country.

The Curb Market brokerage firm of E. D. Dier & Co., No. 42 New Street, with scores of branch offices throughout the country, was thrown into bankruptcy in the United States District Court to-day. Judge Julian Mack appointed Manfred W. Ehrlich of No. 60 Wall Street receiver for the concern.

Saul S. Myers and Arthur Garfield Hayes, counsel to the petitioners, Samuel C. Radman, with a claim of $3,700; Charles Hansen with a claim of $13,000 and Ruben Lillend with a claim of $70, represented to the court that the liabilities of Dier & Co. amount to $4,000,000 and are greatly in excess of the assets. Nash Rockwood, counsel to the bankrupt firm, said the assets equal the liabilities but it will take some time to realize on them.

The members of the firm are Elmore D. Dier, Harry J. Lawrence Jr. and Lawrence Starr. The Stock Exchange removed the ticker service from the offices of Dier & Co. then operating under another name, last May. Dier & Co. are members of the Board of Trade in Chicago and maintain extensive offices in that city.

EX-KAISER AND HIS SON IN DUTCH WITH DUTCH

Not Wanted in Holland; Declares Banker on Arrival.

William Westerman, President of the Bank of Rotterdam and a director of the Holland-America Steamship Line, arriving to-day on the Noordam, said the people of Holland had come as nearly as possible to forgetting that William Hohenzollern and his son Frederick W. Hohenzollern were sojourners among the real Dutch.

"They were not welcome when they came," he said, "and they have kept themselves out of public notice very successfully. It might have been expected that in view of reports as to their financial difficulties one or other might have called at our bank, the largest in Holland, but we have not heard from them."

Five on Board Craft "Lost" Since Last Friday.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The passenger airplane New York with five men aboard, which has been missing off the Florida coast since Friday, has landed at Bimini Island, according to Navy Department advices to-day.

An airplane was sent to-day from Miami, Fla., in search of the passenger-flier.

The navy's report came from the Commander of the Southern Naval District at Pensacola. Although the message did not state specifically, the belief here is that all passengers and crew were safe. The navy has been conducting an extensive search. No details as to how the plane landed were given.

RETURN TO ROB PLACE WHEN TOLD BUSINESS IS FAIR

Bandits Shoot at Diner Fleeing Hold-Up in Restaurant.

"How's business?" asked a young man as he paid his check for himself and a friend in the St. Nicholas Restaurant, No. 1365 St. Nicholas Avenue, a few minutes before 2 o'clock Sunday morning.

"Oh, fair; can't complain," replied Mrs. Rose Williams, cashier, as she passed out the change and rang the cash register.

Five minutes later the pair returned with two others. One pointed a revolver at Mrs. Williams. Another guarded the entrance. A third covered a waiter who was near the cash register to get some change and the fourth leveling his revolver and giving it a sweep about the room, ordered the dozen patrons to stand up and put their hands over their heads.

In the rear a Washington Heights resident whose oyster stew had nothing on him, gave a look and started doing a retiring stunt to a wash room near by. The man in charge of the establishment of the patrons fired a shot. It missed the man beating his retreat and put a hole in a large wooden crab that hangs in the back as a decoration. The man safe in the wash room locked the door. No attempt was made to rob the diners.
